Heaven is where God resides. Yet it is a place, a country, a city, a throne, a kingdom, and a state of mind. Paul speaks of heaven as a place where our attention should be focused. John talks about heaven and its glory. Jesus talked about heaven as a kingdom and a place of reward.

Heaven and all that it represents should be the central object of our attention in this life.

Heaven holds our final reward, in part by being in the presence of our King and of our Father, and in part by the eternal life we have gained by faith in Christ but also in reward of the deeds we have done on this earth. Jesus tells US to store up treasures in heaven. Therefore, we must have something to do with the accumulating!
